

Tom Hanks Movies We Can Learn From

For some sorely needed relaxation, why not watch some movies? This is a tongue-in-cheek look at the three Tom Hanks movies which offer useful lessons that we can apply during the Covid-19 pandemic.

#1: Cast Away

For those who miss going out

He's all alone, unable to venture off his island home to even get essential groceries or visit the dentist.

In comparison, we are actually faring well. It's all about the perspective.

#2: You've Got Mail

For those who cannot get delivery slots

They wait for their mail (and love).

We wait for supermarket deliveries, food dabao orders, and Zoom. Be patient, who knows what is just around the corner.

#3: Apollo 13

For those who make diy masks, face shields, and hand sanitizers

It's not always about state-of-the-art NASA technology.

Duct tape, plastic bags and cardboard were used to improvise a rough but working device that saved the astronauts on Apollo 13.

Be ingenious and think out of the box. Effective solutions need not necessarily be high-tech.
